

Extended product range

KOLBENSCHMIDT camshafts and accessories

Spare parts for engine control

Motorservice has significantly expanded its product range of camshafts and camshaft accessories. With approx. 250 camshaft types and a similar number of accessory parts available (including tappets, rocker arms and finger type rockers), our spare parts are used in hundreds of different engine versions.

The product range can be extended at any time on the customer's request.

Both product groups are manufactured using state-of-the-art production processes in KOLBENSCHMIDT quality and comply with the demanding quality standards set by Motorservice.

You will find a summary of the range including information on the most important engine applications and original manufacturer references on the following pages.
