

New to the KSPG Production Range

New at Pierburg GmbH

Since the implementation of the Euro 6 standard, the low-pressure exhaust gas recirculation is used more and more. Due to its low pressure, additional means, e.g., exhaust gas flaps, are needed to build up sufficient ram pressure. Pierburg GmbH has improved the electromotive gas exhaust flap especially for this application – the latest model is considerably lighter and more compact.

KSPG (Kolbenschmidt Pierburg).
